

I met Cherie and Steve about 10 Years ago when they moved into our neighborhood and I couldn't help but notice what a lovely, fun, loving happy person Cherie was. Then about 2 years later she was diagnosed with a brain tumor and that is when Cherie became an inspiration to me and so many as she continued with such a positive attitude, despite her physical struggles.

Her faith was so evident as it allowed her to endure so much and always with that beautiful smile that we all remember! She had a wonderful hope that was anchored in the promise of eternity. And so important to all of us – LOVE ! She was able to receive and accept the loving help from so many friends and family as we shared this journey with her.

Cherie has been a part of our Bible Study for about 6 years. Even during her illness, one of her sisters or myself or one of the others would pick her up because she just never wanted to miss. One of the women wrote a poem back in November that I shared with Cherie and now Steve has asked me to read it to you. I know that Cherie is listening and I hope that each of you feel the same love that Cherie felt from these words.....Love Tricia
