- J11. (RB, P. 24) Now I'm going to describe two types of neighborhoods, and ask you which of the two you would rather live in. The neighborhoods differ mostly in their transportation options.

Neighborhood 1 has good public transportation and walking is convenient. It has sidewalks. Shopping, entertainment, parks, and a library and school are within a 10-15 minute walk. Commuting to all other places takes about 20 minutes by transit or by car. Houses are close together. Residences in each block are a mixture of single family houses, townhouses, and smaller multifamily buildings.

Neighborhood 2 has convenient driving opportunities. People living here don't have an opportunity to walk or take public transit to places they have to go, but they can drive cars easily to shopping and other places in about 10-15 minutes. Commute locations are about 20 minutes away by car, including time on a highway. So travel times are about the same as in Neighborhood 1. The houses are all single family and on large lots.

Assuming that the cost of housing and the mix of people in both neighborhoods are the same, which neighborhood would you prefer?

1. PREFER WALKING/TRANSIT
NEIGHBORHOOD

2. PREFER DRIVING

- J12. (RB, P. 25) Looking at the next page in your booklet, here are two other types of neighborhoods that differ in the kind of open space available to homeowners. Neighborhood 1 has single family houses on large lots without shared open spaces. Neighborhood 2 has single family houses on small lots that are next to a shared open space.

Assuming that the cost of housing and the mix of people in both neighborhoods are the same, which neighborhood would you prefer?
